

Home Sustainability Assessments

SAVE MONEY, IMPROVE COMFORT, ACHIEVE SUSTAINABILITY

Make your home sustainable. Get a free Home Sustainability Assessment, valued at over $250. The assessment is paid for by the Australian Government as part of the Green Loans Program, which started in July 2009. Get independent advice from one of Australia's most experienced home sustainability assessors. Book Stuart McQuire to visit your home to discuss opportunities for sustainability improvements.

Government subsidised loans of up to $10,000 interest free for four years are available for sustainability improvements through the Green Loans Program.

The Home Sustainability Assessment will take about 1½ hours. A report will then be prepared and sent to you within about two weeks, highlighting the sustainability solutions for your home. You then have the option of taking out a Green Loan of up to $10,000, with the interest paid by the Australian Government for up to four years.

To be eligible for a free Home Sustainability Assessment applicants must be:

- Aged 18 or over
- An Australian citizen, permanent resident and / or an Australian registered charity
- The dwelling owner, a trustee or renter listed on lease
- Have an income below $250,000

The house / property being assessed must:

- Be in Australia or its territories and be a primary place of residence
- Have been completed and occupied for at least 12 months (not necessarily by the applicant)
